ANARCHISTS BREAKING CAMP.

The Mollick - Goldman - Timmerman Crew Are Moving.

Queen Emma Augrily Refuses to Tell Where They Are Going.

The red flag was at half mast in the Mollick-Goldman-Zimmerman Anarchistic nest at 340 Fifth street this morning. To-morrow the most radical of rabid Anarchists must bey the mandates of a law they hate more than the fate of sinful man. Michaels & Sons, agents of the tenement, 340 Fifth street, have issued an edict that Emma Goldman and her subjects must pull up stakes and get out. This morning the entire colony was engaged in pulling up the stakes.

The Anarchistic camp was on the rear of he ground floor. It was dirty. So were the inmates. But never since Rip Van Winkle rubbed the moss off his eyes and brushed aside a foot or so of mother earth that had accumulated on his face and hands during his ong sleep has there been so much terra firms on any one person as seemed to surround Mrs. Mollick as she opened the door of the apartment this morning and said "Git out." A cloud of dust like a Sahara sandstorm, rushed through the door with the words When at length the dust and Mrs. Mollick's wrath subsided the cause of the disturbance It was this-the Anarchists were breaking up house-keeping. A rag carpet, a bedstead, a table, a stove, a cradle, a baby carriage and a baby were piled up together. and from out the mass came mingled infant's screams, the odor of unwashed furniture and the accumulated dust of months. Back of it all was the voice of Emma Goldman reviling law, order and work. " I have nothing to say," she acreamed, as she threw a pile of Anarchistic literature in the baby carriage. " Moving, are you?" the reporter asked. " Well, d'ye think we're doin' this for exen cise?" was the answer, as Emma wiped the

was ended.

Mrs. Waish, the housekeeper of the tenement, said she did not know where the Anarchists were going. She added that the neighbors were very glad to get rid of the unwashed crowd and sympathy would be extended to the people in whatever community they move into.

COWBOYS THREATEN TO KILL A Bloody Fight Probable Between

Them and Kansas Farmers. WIGHITA, Kan., Aug. 4.—A cattle man from Arkansas City says trouble is expected there between cowboys and farmers. Receive Haten, in charge of the Presidio County (Tex.) Ranch, is shipping several train loads of stock day to Chicago from Arkansas City. Last night a large number of these cattle broke away and spread over the Kansas corn fields. some forty farmers of the vicinity armed themselves and notified the cowboys that every animal found trespassing on their premises would be shot. The cattlemen is return promised that for every animal killed a Kansas tarmer would bite the dust. The farmers are said to be patrolling the border.
